

Working Together

Today I understand, though there will always be some solo work to be done, generally speaking the time for my working alone has come to a close. Now is about working as much as possible 'in group' with anyone who is consciously spiritually aware. It is the time, given the realisation that two can constitute a group, for working in this way to do what needs to be done to healing myself, hone my skills and by doing so continue to play my part in raising mass awareness.

The time will come when I will need to work in a very specific group. In the tradition of the spiritual path I have been led to follow many of us here at the moment will fall into one of the following groups;

Daykeeper
Wisdomkeeper
Earthkeeper.

Alignment to these named groups takes place during the Munay-Ki transmissions as the Lineage Rites. But I feel certain such alignments will also be occurring, possibly with alternative names, by walking other paths to realisation than the route I've taken. When the time comes to work in these specific groups the responsibilities will be as follows;

Daykeepers will work as one to heal humanity.

Earthkeepers will work as one to heal the land, water and atmosphere.

Wisdomkeepers will hold the space with the unwavering and certain knowledge of the successful outcome, and link to that outcome.

Once this phase has been completed we will work in mixed groups containing at least one of each lineage to maintain the harmonic balance.

It feels to me important in this run-up period that for those drawn to the path I have taken some of us receive all nine transmissions of Munay-Ki, and this I am sure will have its mirror in whatever tradition these skills are being handed on across the planet. But it is not necessary for the much talked of 'critical mass' to all receive Rites 8 and 9. What seems important is that they receive these Lineage Rites. A time may come in this run-up period when people will only need the transmission of their specific lineage group. Beyond that, something I suspect to do with the mounting mass of energetic knowledge at a conscious level that will be reached, it may only be necessary to tell people which lineage they are for them to be aligned with it.

As with all work of personal development on this level it is vital to circumnavigate the old thought processes and to act with true responsibility when seeking to discover our individual place. Each group requires its own particular skill set and it can be unwise to make assumptions on our own, or anyone else', behalf in matters as important as these. I initially began to understand during the Munay-Ki transmission process that I had a special link to one of the groups and this has been confirmed for me on numerous occasions since. If my words here have a particular resonance for you, you may choose to investigate this matter with reference to yourself in the way that is appropriate for you. When discover yourself aligned to one of these groups, should you feel it would be of use I would be happy to pass on to you what I have come to think of as 'A Spiritual Job Description' for your group.
